

Project Name

UH Hilo University Park - Komohana and Nowelo Street Improvements, Hilo, Hawaii

Client / Owner

University of Hawaii, Hilo Campus

Year Completed

2007

Project Description & Firm's Responsibility

Work is in progress to expand the University of Hawaii Hilo Campus. Development of a University Park will include a research and technology park, student housing, and academic-related facilities. New roadways were constructed in previous phases to provide access to the University Park.

Work included the preparation of construction plans, specifications, and cost estimates for the installation of traffic signals and related improvements at the intersection of Komohana and Nowelo Streets. Nowelo Street previously terminated at Komohana Street; this project extended Nowelo Street in order to provide access to the undeveloped section of University Park. Work included the design of left turn storage lanes on Komohana Street that involved widening the street. Deteriorated pavement on Komohana Street was also reconstructed. Services during bidding and construction were also provided.

